Board of Instruction.

We would most respectfully call the attention of the public to the Faculty of our College. All are permanent Professors and Teachers; and a more commanding array as to number or talents, cannot be found at the head of any Institution, unde or fermic, North or South. In this respect we challenge competition, and appeal to every individual patron of the Institution to gain-ay, if he can, the above statements.

Bontding.

The Proprietors are prepared to board 100 pupils; firmishing all with large, commodions and well ventilated rooms. Besides our house, there are many private families in the community, who accommodate pupils with boarding, viz.: Mrs. 1r. Hill, Dr. X. N. Smith, Col. J. M. Beall, Maj. George Heard, Mr. Thomas B. Greenwood, James Bradfield, Mr. Edward Broughton, Dr. R. A. T. Ridley, Rev. J. W. Tally, Albert Cox, Esq., Mr. Thomas Thornton, Mr. Wiley Wilson, General Edwards, &c., &c.

Charges, however, in no instance will be made for less time than half a term, unless the discontinuance is for Providential cause.

Sessions and Vacations.

The next session, consisting of time and a half son-secutive months, will commence on the first day of October, and close on Wednesday after the second Sabbath in July, following. The Wednesday after the second Sabbath is Commencement-day, and on the five days immediately preceding, will be held the public annual examination of all the classes

Prompiness.

There is no enterprise in life in which this virue is more highly necessary, than in the prosecution of learning. Pupila who enter late are compelled either to lose-a year or be dangged for a year by those who would not have possessed any advantages over them if all had taken an equal start. In view, therefore, of this yousideration, we could not too strongly urge our patrons to send in the pupils on the very first day of the term.

In this connection, we cannot too severely denorance the practice of visiting home frequently during the term. It were as impossible to make scholars of such, as for a farmer to reap a harvest when the year had been broken in upon by trips of pleasure, &c., while his crop was being choked by the weeds.

Physical Education.

A good constitution is all-limp-reant for any and all of the purposes and employments of life. A delicate and refined system of gymnastics in the form of Calisthenies, has been introduced into this institution, and so arranged as that it at once forms a part and purvel of our entire plan of education. To make this exercise more efficient, and to inspire the pupil with sufficient fondness for it, it is conducted entirely by the music of the victin.

Additional Facilities.

This institution has reached a point of eminence far beyond the most distant hopes of its warmest friends. It has done so too, against as many disadvantages as ever clogged the wheels of any enterprise. But we are happy in being able to announce to the public, that our facilities are now complete. Our buildings are far beyond competition in the South; all of our recitation, study, and lecture-rooms have been planned and erected with reference to the grand two-fold object of promoting health and study among the pupils. The private apartments for the boarders are large and well ventilated. The Proprietors have an aggregate investment of not less than Seventy-five Thousand Dollars ($75,000 00) in this College. Our friends have charged us with folly for expending so large, a sum in so precarious an enterprise. But we disregard "hat a censorious world may say, if, commensurate with the surpassing facilities and accommodations which we tender, we receive the patronage of the public. We have had no higher ambition to gratify than simply to afford all necessary assistance to our pupils in their pursuit of knowledge.

Anty and Judson Societies.

These two rival literary associations were formed early in the present year, and have already given an unnistakable earnest of wint they are destined ultimately to accomplish. It is too much the case, that literary reading is regarded as of little importange to the student in his scientific researches. Reading during the process of scholastic training is peculiarly necessary to the accomplishment of female education. With a view to meet these necessities and exigencies, these societies were organized. They each have a regular constitution and code of by-laws, appropriate officers, &c., and conduct all of their business matters with order and decorum. They meet for the transaction of business on every saturday morning, at which time each member is required under penalty to stand up and recite the sub-stance of at least fifty pages of literature as the acquisitions of the week. They are allowed Wednesday afternoons for reading in their respective halls.

They have already cellected a library of books from the most approved authors of ancient and modern times to the extent of nearly 1,000 volumes. The wise of the country will hail this as a most valuable auxiliary to female education. The improvement which now exhibits itself in the style of conversation and writing on the part of our pupils, speaks volumes for the efficiency of these literary organizations.

General Bemarks.

This College is strictly antisectarian and antidenominational.

One of the proprietors is a Presbyterian and the other a Methodist, whilst the Principal of the music department is a Boptist. The professors and teachers generally are divided with respect to their denominational attachments. Our object is to remove, as far as possible, every influence that might tend to impress upon the minds of our pupils sectarian bigotry or prejudice. As far as we are capable, we inculcate upon their minds moral and religious obligation. But we go no farther. At the opening and closing of the tailiy exercises, the whole school assemble in the chapel, and spend at each time thirty minutes in reading the scriptures, singing and prayer. To facilitate our chapel singing, arrangements are made to furnish, by the opening of next term a splendid organ.

Mealth.

A portion of the citizens of our town having been visited in their families by an epidemic which has been attended during the season by much mortality, it becomes necessary for us to state,

1st. That the health of the College has been unusually good.

2d. Of over 200 pupils there has been but one death, and that of a little girl of 12 years, constitutionally feeble and sickly.

ad. The above facts speak more strongly for the health of our location, when we add the fact that during the two last months of the term, and while the epidemic prevailed in town, there occurred no less than thirty cases of meades among our pupils.

Music Department.

For this department entirely new arrangements have been made. Prof. D. W. Chase has been secured to head the musical faculty at the opening of the next session. Of this well-known and distinguished professor of music, we need say nothing. Having been employed for the last twelve years at the head of this department in two institutions of deservedly high reputation in Alabama and Georgia, we are willing to abide the verdict of the public as to his ments. Suffice it, that the very highest culogiums that could be passed, have from time to time been pronounced by the distinquished Presidents of those institutions on the character and qualifications of Irof. C.

Below we insert the outline of the organization and plan of the department made out by Prof. C. himself, from which it will be seen that no institution, North or South, presents to the public a combination of talents and facilities that will at all compare with this, and we do sincerely trust that the public will not only appreciate the efforts which he is making to erect a high standard of musical taste and skill, but by a liberal putronage reward those efforts.

LA GRANGE FEMALE COLLEGE,

Music Department.

In this department, none but the most thorough and accomplished Professors and Teachers are employed, any one of whom is amply competent to take the entire management of its affairs. A few of the prominent features which distinguish this Faculty, are:

1st. All the instruction is given on a uniform plan, and under the same regulations. Instruction given by one or two, however taleated they may be, is by no means sufficient to insure to the pupil the highest degree of success. One teacher may excel in the art of imparting preliminary instruction, and laying a thorough foundation, without which all future efforts will be comparatively useless. Another may excel in developing and training the voice and ear. Another still may impart superior teste and expression, and all that constitutes the finishing of a nusical education. In the organization of this Faculty, the highest order of talent and the most diversified attainments have been combined, thus securing to the pupil the most thorough and extensive course of training, in all the varied and important details necessary to the attainment of a high degree of excellence in musical skill and taste.

2d. In addition to the unusual advantages afforded to the pupils of the College by this combination of musical talent, special inducements are offered to those who are preparing themselves to become teachers; and also to young ladies who wish to pursue the study of music alone or in connection with other ornamental branches, after they have closed their other studies.

3d. Owing to the large number and varied attainments of the Musical Faculty, and the still larger number of young ladies in attendance, who are perfecting themselves for teachers, together with others who are devoting themselves exclasively to the study of music, the standard of taste and skill among the pupils of the College, is rapidly improved and elevated, and their ambition excited. In addition to these advantages, public lectures will be delivered, and a variety of concerts given, embracing the highest range of both secular and scored music, with a full and effective orchestra.

4th. The whole business of teaching has been reduced to a rigidly scientific and philosophical system. All the pupils of the College, whether properly music scholars or not, have daily exercises in the theory and practice of vocal music, embracing preliminary exercises in elecution, such as the articulation of consonants, sounds of the vowels, and rocal gymnastics. The last exercise manch, has been found to produce a surprising and gratifying effect, in strengthening the muscles of the throat and lungs, developing the voice and expanding the chest, thus counteracting the tendency to stoop, in consequence of the crouching position which many young ladies assume at their desks.

5th. Instruction is given in marching to music, in order to secure that most difficult attainment, correct time.

In addition to which they are thoroughly trained in Calisthenies, for the purpose of imparting that grace and ease of motion and manners so essential in a lady. It will be seen that this Faculty is arranged on a new plan. It forms a distinct and well-organized society; having Professors who will direct their attention more particularly to those branches of musical science and art in which they more particularly excel.

The Principal has for many years been convinced that the increasing wants of the public demanded a system of instruction more thorough and elevated, and embracing a far wider range in the fertile and inexhausible fields of musical knowledge, than has heretofore been adopted. The great difficulty in maturing and carrying out a plan which would secure this object, has been, that for want of numbers, the tuition money in no one school has been sufficient to pay the salaries of a corps of teachers, sufficiently large, and at the same time possessing the requisite attainments. This heretofore insurmountable obstacle has now been removed. The La GRANGE FEMALE COLLEGE, under the indefatigable and self-sacrificing labors of its worthy President, and his co-workers, has acquired a reputation and taken a hold on the public confidence which has secured an abundant supply of material for the full consummation of the plan proposed.

Almost every facility is now afforded which money can purchase. The salaries for teachers and the suns required for the purchase of Instruments, Apparatus, &c., for the supply of all the wants of the Music Department will probably exceed $8,000 for the first year.

In view, however, of the wide spread and rapidly increasing prosperity of the College, together with the gratifying success which has heretofore attended the efforts of the Principal and Professors of the Musical Faculty in other fields of labor, it is confidently believed, that these extra efforts and sacrifices will be duly appreciated and rewarded by a generous public.
